

ANALYSIS Of MTA Turnstile data New York CITY

The goal of this project is to provide people with vaccination centers and provide enough space in each station.

To start exploring this goal, I used a bar plot to determine which stations will make it to our final recommendations.

he figure depicts the busiest stations to provide people with vaccination centers and provide enough space in each station.